

Are you a parent of a 7-14 year old child?

Does your child appear sad, withdrawn, or irritable?

Your child may be eligible to participate in

Coping Options for Positive Emotion (COPE)

COPE is a treatment research study for child depression funded by the National Institutes of Health.

COPE includes therapy that focuses on coping skills.

COPE is free of charge and compensation is provided for interviews and parking.

COPE is part of the Division of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry at MGH.

For more information about COPE contact us at 617-643-7821

Principal Investigator: Dikla Eckshtain, PhD